 Memoriam LOVELY NEW HYBRID TEA

Hybridized by Gordon J. Von Abrams

Acclaimed as the most perfectly formed rose of a decade, Memoriam has been awarded a Gold Certificate by the Portland International Rose Test Gardens, and is now contending for top honors in many European rose trials.

Pink-and-cream buds, long-pointed, large and perfectly formed, appear on strong, straight stems and unfold slowly into delightfully luminous flowers with 50-60 petals of remarkable substance. Lustrous as pink pearls, the large, lovely blooms vary from white in cool weather to dawn-pink in hot summer, always glowing with a luminescence as though lighted from within.

Beginners and experienced rose gardeners alike succumb to this memorable rose, for the 4-foot bush is sturdy, disease-resistant and easy to grow, with heavy deep green foliage as a background for the pink perfection of continuing bloom. We proudly recommend Memoriam, the unforgettable rose, for a delightful garden, long-lasting arrangements and as a new challenger on the exhibition bench.

Allow them ample space and be prepared for large plants and masses of big beautiful blooms.

Gordon J. Von Abrams, director of research, works in modern laboratory.

"Mike" Dering inspects Super-Strain understock.

P&D rose plant, showing typical short shank and flexible, fibrous roots.

Twelve years of breeding, developing and testing won our 1962 floribunda, GOLDEN SLIPPERS, the coveted All-America Rose Selections award.

YOUR P&D ROSES ARE GUARANTEED TO GROW AND BLOOM

Oregon-Grown Plants are the Finest Anywhere

This year you will find seventeen lovely new P&D roses reproduced in color in this catalog, all originated in our laboratories and grown in the rich Columbia River silt of our rose fields. Oregon's climate is ideal, and our roses are hardy. We use no surface irrigation, so the roots of our roses grow strong, flexible and fibrous as they reach down into the moist earth, while the canes sprout out close to the crown for well-shaped, bushy plants. Excellent growing conditions plus careful tending, harvesting, storing and shipping mean you receive superior plants, guaranteed to grow and bloom.

Prize-winners from P&D Are Easy to Grow

Our cover rose, Golden Slippers, was the only floribunda to win the coveted All-America Rose Selections award in 1962. This award means that the rose has been tested and rated by experts throughout the United States, and it grew and performed exceptionally well everywhere. Other P&D prize winners such as Pink Favorite, Burnaby, Memoriam and Coronado have won awards and show trophies in this country and in Europe. Prize winners are "best buys," as they cost no more and you are assured easy-care plants with lovely blooms. Our new roses, too, undergo rigorous tests before being offered for sale. Over 50 gardens in the U. S., including Hartford, Conn.; Tulsa, Okla.; Columbus, O., and Portland, Ore., as well as gardens in England, Spain, Italy, France, Germany, Switzerland, Holland and Denmark grow and report on Peterson & Dering introductions before they are offered for sale.

P&D Super-Strain Multiflora Understock

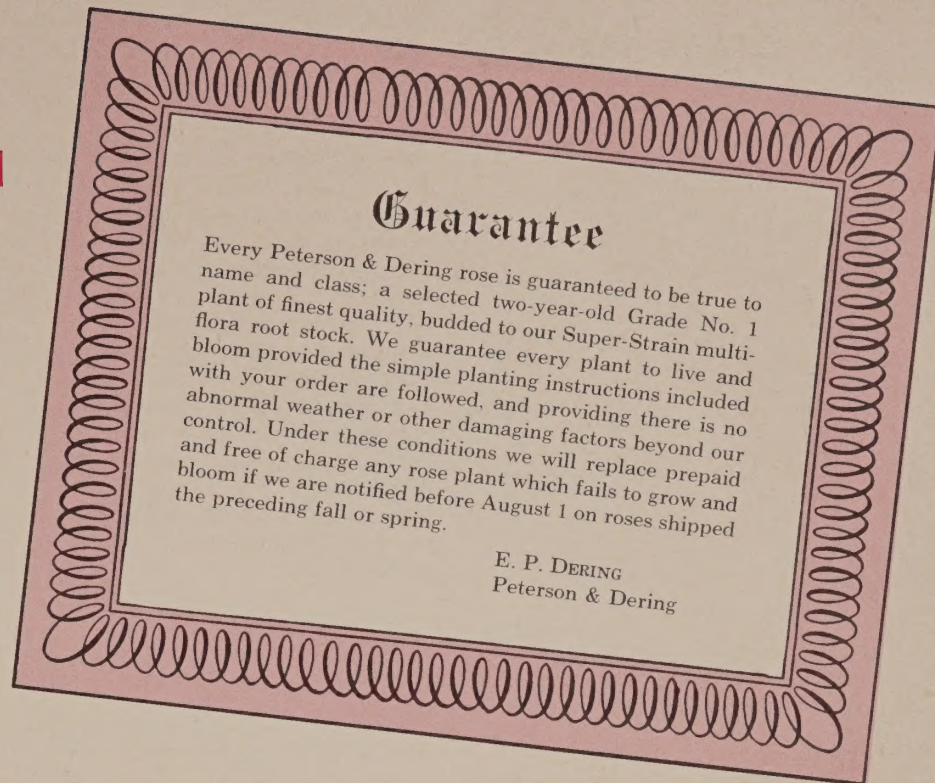

All P&D roses are budded (grafted) to an exceptionally strong, hardy understock to give your rose bushes strength, stamina, and good roots. More than twenty years of continuous research have gone into developing Peterson & Dering's tremendous "Super-Strain" multiflora rootstock, which produces extremely healthy, vigorous plants. Our roses are guaranteed to grow and bloom in your garden.

Patented Roses from P&D

The plant patent number appearing with the name of the rose means that it has been developed by an individual or a firm, usually through years of hybridizing, and that the rose has been patented. PPAF means Plant Patent Applied For. The rights to propagate these roses are owned by the patentee. There are 30 P&D patented roses shown in color in this catalog, and they are identified in the reference section by P-D.

Under these conditions we will replace prepaid and free of charge any rose plant which fails to grow and bloom if we are notified before August 1 on roses shipped the preceding fall or spring.

E. P. DERING
Peterson & Dering

J. Von Abrams, biochemist, as director of research. Von Abrams has conducted extensive research in the physiology and biochemistry of roses, with emphasis on pigmentation, disease resistance, vigor and adaptation to cold. The program is continuous, with breeding schedules often extended through several generations. The magnificent result of one breeding schedule is the exquisite new hybrid tea rose, Memoriam. In 1949—13 years ago—a series of white varieties were crossed with Peace. The seed-parent was selected from a cross of Blanche Mallerin x Peace, the pollen-parent from Peace x Frau Karl Druschki. From these preliminaries, we can proudly offer Memoriam, the most perfectly formed pink hybrid tea rose introduced in a decade.

Another delightful example is our brilliant orange-and-gold 1962 AARS winner, Golden Slippers. Beginning with a 1949 cross of Orange Triumph x Austrian Copper, in 1951 a seedling from this breeding was crossed with Pinocchio and in turn a seedling of that cross was used to pollinate Goldilocks. Golden Slippers emerged as an outstanding offspring.

In addition to the exceptional roses we achieve through years of hybridizing, we watch carefully for unusual plants—sports and mutations—which sometimes occur during the process. The results of our planning and research brings you a luxurious choice of lovely new roses this year, bred with scientific skill and grown under ideal climatic conditions. You can look forward to offerings of superior new roses each year henceforth from Peterson & Dering.

Extras with Every Order

We want you to receive your roses in the best possible condition at the time most suitable for planting in your climate. We keep a planting timetable in our order department, and ship your roses to comply, unless you specify otherwise on the order form.

All rose orders are carefully packed with every bush name-labelled, the guarantee card and our booklet, "How To Plant and Care For Roses" enclosed. If you order three or more of the same P&D variety, a handsome, weather-resistant name stake for each bush is included.

Special Orders and Rush Shipments

If you want your roses sent the fastest way, add 75c per rose to your order and request AIR PARCEL POST. (Regular orders are sent parcel post.) We also accept telephone orders—but please do not call collect. Telephone Peterson & Dering, Scappoose, Oregon. The number is 543-6323.

Our Guarantee and Policy

We are a member of the American Association of Nurserymen, Oregon Association of Nurserymen, the National Mail Order Association, the American Rose Society, and a charter member of All-America Rose Selections, Inc. We uphold the high standards these memberships require—and we are proud of our roses.

Grow-your-own ROSE SEED KITS

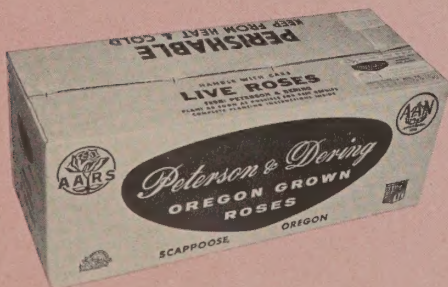

Tray above contains young seedlings just after germination. Hybrid rose seeds, center, and planting mix are part of Rose Seed Kit.

Now you, too, can experiment and watch with anticipation and excitement as brand new hybrid rose seedlings sprout, grow and bloom for the first time. The seeds in our rose kits are from unnamed crosses, mostly hybrid tea types. Each is a new, distinct, individual rose, never before grown anywhere. They are products of our hybridizing program, and there is even a remote possibility that among them is the embryo of a rose so unusual that it could be valuable commercially. However, the pleasure of having something new on this earth, and being the first to see new seedlings and rose blooms never seen before by anyone—these are the rewards of experimenting with rose kits.

Each kit contains a 4" x 12" plastic tray, 12 Jiffy Pots of peat, 36 hybrid rose seeds in a plastic bag, vermiculite growing mix, and complete instructions for planting and care of your new seedlings. Although we cannot guarantee germination because we cannot control handling and growing conditions, you can expect 25% to 75% germination if you follow our directions. For a new and different gardening experience, include a P&D ROSE SEED KIT with your order, and send one as a gift to a gardening friend.

ROSES in the LANDSCAPE

by Mrs. Nat Schoen

Today, whatever the landscape problem, you can select a wide range of colors, heights and sizes for a lovely effect with roses. Let's take a look at some of the uses of roses, and some of the roses waiting for us. First of all, for those who seek a mass planting to grace a wide border or perhaps a hillside, the new floribundas can perform a splendid transformation.

As an example, the new AARS winner, Golden Slippers, that brilliant two-toned orange and gold beauty which grows to a moderate height (2'-2½') with shapely habit, is bound to stop traffic when planted in groups. Its constant repeat bloom is an added bonus, too. For those who wish softer coloring in their mass planting, the warm, peach-pink Bellina will serve with great satisfaction. Another winning display is achieved by using the very deep red floribunda, Red Ruffles, whose gay, flaring petals open gardenia-like into flat symmetrical blooms. It is especially effective when used with groups of white evergreen azaleas. Late blooming types of azaleas will provide vivid contrast to the early blooms of Red Ruffles, then during the winter the foliage of the azaleas will provide attractive cover. Try this with other color combinations, too. An edging of the lovely new floribunda, Ivory Triumph, with its creamy petals centered with golden stamens, is even further enhanced with a facing of blue ageratum. Here is a color effect that will delight you throughout the entire summer.

FLORIBUNDAS AS BORDER

For those who need background height and color along with their evergreens, the very new rich, red grandifloras, Jantzen Girl, Paul Bunyan and Ebony, will dazzle the eye. Soft blues of delphinium in a background planting will be greatly improved by adding a few bushes of the remarkable Trojan, a sturdy new grandiflora of lovely pastel coloring—soft pink with gold reverse. The grandifloras have opened a whole new field of beauty to the landscape, providing more height in the background without the use of evergreens and still more evergreens. The extra advantage of cutting myriads of roses all season will further endear them to you.

GRANDIFLORAS USED AGAINST BACKGROUND OF EVERGREENS

Of course, the hybrid tea is still the reigning Queen of the Rose World and here we can really lose ourselves in the new introductions. Whether we want roses for the exhibit table at the show or simply for cutting for the home, we can find exactly what we need. For great big, showy blooms of brilliant carmine and gold, The Duke will please the eye and delight the gardener who wants disease resistance along with beauty. Equally large, but with that pure exhibition form everyone looks for, we have the new pink Memoriam. The delicate pink coloring defies description and the sturdy plant and strong stems give it a regal look in the garden.

There are so many new beauties in the hybrid tea class that the grower must keep in mind their habit of growth when planting them in mixed beds. Colors can be blended easily in the same bed, but height is a most important factor. Try using roses of moderate height on the outer beds and those of taller habit in the center beds. The circulation of air will be much better and this is essential for healthy roses. Sometimes we are really fortunate in finding a rose which provides plenty of bloom at the same time it produces high quality. This is true of the international favorite, Pink Favorite. If there is a universal, all purpose rose, we have it here. The foliage is beautiful, leathery and almost immune to disease, and the plant is strong enough to carry the hundreds of blooms it produces. When Pink Favorite is disbudded it becomes a top ranking show rose.

HYBRID TEA PLANTING

Perhaps only a small space is available for the garden. Here again we can make full use of roses by leading up to the garden with very low floribundas and accenting the beds of hybrid teas with similar varieties grown as tree roses.

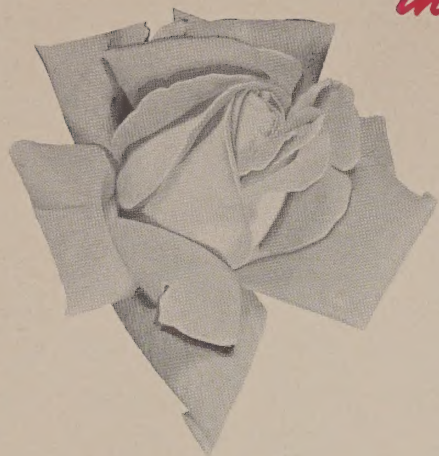

A rose garden need not be large to be important. By careful use of color, height and proper spacing, a small garden may be the jewel of the landscape, the focus of final attention. Starting with the great favorite Burnaby with its creamy yellow formal bloom, or the newer White Prince with its stately habit, the soft, light colors lead gradually to the arresting shades at the far end of the rose beds where we place roses like Coronado, a brilliant bi-color of red and gold.

FLORIBUNDAS WITH TREE ROSE AS FOCAL POINT

Now that roses have been bred for sturdiness and disease resistance, there is no reason for even the lazy gardener to avoid their full use. With color range complete, including even the lavender shades, with habit of growth varying from miniature to immense size, and with forms including single blooms of five petals to hundred-petalled beauties, it may be said truly that today there is a rose for every purpose. Where rose specialists of yesterday said that the garden was for the rose, we know today the rose is for the garden.

the Rose ... the national favorite

Here begins the listings which make this a true Rose Reference Book. Each class is arranged by color and alphabetized for easy reference with rating, flower size, petals, and bush height in the headline, plus a short description. After the name is the 1961 rating of the American Rose Society. *10 is perfect; *9.9 to *9 is outstanding; *8.9 to *8, excellent; *7.9 to *7, good; *6.9 to *6, fair; below *6, is questionable; and under *5, poor. A few varieties are not rated but are very popular. Those "too new to be rated" have been carefully selected, such as recent AARS winners identified by  or our own new select and tested varieties, identified by .

Ht. 3'-4'

PPAF. Something new and different for the rose fancier—a rose of exotic fragrance and classic grace—available in such limited quantity that each plant is numbered and registered in the owner's name. Urn-shaped buds of ruby red and silver open into full, high-centered blooms perfectly formed to display the colors of the heavy petals—deep phlox-pink on the upper surface, gleaming silvery-white below. GRANDIFLORAS

Grandifloras are a relatively new type, a cross of the hybrid tea and the floribunda. The bush is tall like the hybrid tea rose, bears clusters of bloom like the floribunda, but the blooms are often large and shaped like a hybrid tea rose. P&D now offers four of this class.

GRANDIFLORA ROSES—All Colors

EBONY (*Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, 20-30 petals. Ht. 5'-6'

P&D PPAF. Velvety blooms, dusky and comely, unfold from an abundance of short, pointed buds. High-centered, medium-sized flowers appear singly and in clusters—as many as 45 blooms have been counted on a single candelabra stem. The foliage is abundant, large and glossy, on a vigorous bush. The clarity and brilliance of the deep red flower and the vigorous growth of the plant are the outstanding characteristics of Ebony—fulfilling the dream of a bountiful bush completely covered with deep red roses.

$2.75 each, 3 for $7.20

GOVERNOR ROSSELINI (*7.4) Flower: Med. double, 30 petals. Ht. 4'-5'

Pl. Pat. 1873. Bears a profusion of rich rose-red flowers repeating itself all season. Fragrant slow opening buds and double flowers growing in clusters with stems of cutting length as well as single blooms on long stems. Named in honor of the present governor of the State of Washington.

$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

JANTZEN GIRL (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, double,

P&D 35 petals. Ht. 4'-5'

PPAF. Excellent form and color characterize the profuse and spectacular bloom of this very bright red grandiflora. The full-petaled bud opens gracefully, high-centered at first, gradually spreading until the mature bloom is smoothly rounded. The crisp clean petals are elegantly waved to give a most pleasing and unusual profile. The color is as red as the famous Jantzen Girl swimsuit, for which color this rose is named. The plant is very tall, of excellent grace and posture, always dressed in brilliant red. Jantzen Girl is a consistent and dependable performer, in the most elegant fashion.

$3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

JOHN S. ARMSTRONG (Too new to be rated) Flower: Large, 35-40

AARS petals Ht. 4'-5½'

PPAF. This vigorous descendant of the famous Charlotte Armstrong features velvety dark red blooms in clusters, strong-stemmed and long for cutting. Color-fast, holds its rich red in all weather without bluing or fading. Ample foliage and continuously in bloom.

$3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

JUNE BRIDE (*7.5) Flower: Large double, 30 petals. Ht. 4'

Pl. Pat. 1770. Large fragrant creamy-white blooms in large clusters come freely on this vigorous free-branching plant.

$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

FLORIBUNDA ROSES—Red

EUTIN (*8.6) Flower: Small double, 20 petals. Ht. 2'

Seldom does such a small plant give such bloom; a hundred to each stem. Continuously blooming with qualities of good foliage and bush. Very popular in the mid-West.

$1.75 each, 3 for $4.65

FIRE KING (*7.9) Flower: Medium double, 40-50 petals. Ht. 3'

Pl. Pat. 1758. 1960 AARS Award winner. A very fragrant rose of bright scarlet. This little floribunda blooms in clusters making a very good show in your garden. The foliage is dark and leathery. Used extensively as a cut flower in Europe.

$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

FLORADORA (*8.2) Flower: Medium, double, 25 petals. Ht. 3'-4'

AARS Double camellia-type blooms of brilliant orange-red; glossy foliage; disease-resistant; upright growth. A tall, well-branched bush.

$1.75 each, 3 for $4.65

FLORIBUNDAS

Floribundas are low, compact and usually hardy, providing clusters of abundant bloom. They were developed especially for borders, massed plantings and other landscaping purposes.

FRENSHAM (*8.6) Flower: Medium, semi-double, 15 petals. Ht. 3'

Velvety-red favorite for tall dense hedges. Thorny and dense enough to keep out dogs. Profuse bloomer.

$1.75 each, 3 for $4.65

GARNETTE (*7.8) Flower: Small double, 50 petals. Ht. 1½'

A much desired small red cluster rose, low growing. So lovely for bordering that rose bed. Keeping qualities as a cut flower are astonishing. A popular florist rose.

$1.75 each, 3 for $4.65

RED RUFFLES (*Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, 45 petals. Ht. 3'

P&D PPAF. Unusually attractive in flower form, Red Ruffles is nearly flat across the top, with deeply ruffled, symmetrically arranged petals. The foliage is dark green and glossy, flushed with red along veins, and abundantly covers the vigorous bush. Delightfully different for arrangements, the bloom is continuous and profuse—a constant source of long-lasting cut flowers.

$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

FLORIBUNDA ROSES – Pink

AMY (*6.8) Flower: Large double, 35-42 petals. Ht. 2'-2½'

FLORIBUNDA ROSES – Yellow

CONRAD HILTON (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, 35 petals. Ht. 4'
PPAF. Vigorous and heavily foliaged. The rich yellow buds are streamlined and urn-shaped, opening into good-sized blooms of deep yellow inside to creamy yellow outside. A sturdy plant, covered with contrasting blooms, easy to grow and maintain.
$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

GOLDEN LACE (Too new to be rated) Flower: 3" to 3½", 20 petals.
P.D. Ht. 3'-3½'
PPAF. When Golden Lace becomes well established, it forms a graceful network of supple branches and shining foliage, heavily sequined with brilliant yellow flowers. As the unique plant pattern develops, it brings to mind a rich lacework of green and gold. The plant is vigorous and produces great quantities of bloom in large, graceful clusters. Small pointed buds open into well-formed high-centered flowers and their deep yellow color holds without fading to the time the petals drop. The fragrance is light and spicy. A remarkably pleasing effect can be achieved with this unique rose when used as a hedge, or against a fence or rock wall.
$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

INDIAN GOLD (Too new to be rated) Flower: Med., 40 petals. Ht. 2'-3'
P.D. PPAF. Buds of warm gold liberally touched with red open into yellow flowers flushed with soft pink at maturity. FLORIBUNDA ROSES – Orange and Bicolor

ARPEGGIO (Too new to be rated) Flower: 3", 18-20 petals. Ht. 3'
P.D. PPAF. Like the shimmering notes of a harp arpeggio, where each distinct note swells into a chord of vibrant melody, so does the rose Arpeggio unfold its blooms, one by one, into a cluster of living beauty. Each small brilliantly red bud appears perfectly suspended in the great cluster of which it is a part, yet each has its moment of glory as it opens into a light red flower with a flush of gold at the center. The well-formed plant is unusually sturdy, grows to 3 ft., and is continually crowned with great clusters of bloom. Abundant foliage is bright, glossy and easy to care for, being almost entirely immune to the rose rust disease.
$2.00 each, 3 for $5.25

BELLINA (*7.6) Flower: Medium, 45 petals. Ht. 2'
P.D. Pl. Pat. 1915. Beautiful Bellina is continuously dressed in peach-pink with yellow undertones, as clusters of buds open into perfectly formed flowers. The small buds are very attractive in both form and color and the bloom is full and high-centered. The plant is low and compact, especially adapted for low borders, around walks, driveways and other places that need a small growing, compact rose. Bellina is peach-pink and pretty all season.
$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

CORAL CROWN (*7.9) Flower: Medium double, 35 petals. Ht. 2'
P.D. Pl. Pat. 1991. Crowned with clusters of deep orange-red buds, this bush blooms profusely and constantly. The bud is small and pointed and the flower is medium sized and has good form. The profuse, high-centered blooms of coral red deepen in color with maturity and the color remains true in all climates. A low, compact bush, Coral Crown produces an excellent over-all effect for borders and landscaping.
$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

GOLDEN SLIPPERS (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, 18-25 petals. Ht. 2'-2½'. ALL-AMERICA AWARD WINNER, 1962.
P.D. PPAF. In a brilliant color break-through, Golden Slippers danced to the top of the floribunda class on a cloud of breathless orange. The perfectly formed, pointed buds swell to show a hint of red and a promise of gold, then open into lovely blooms of an orange so brilliant and unusual it is hard to believe this is a rose. The coloring is fluorescent orange and gold, holding brightly while the flower opens, then softening only slightly to a pastel orange surrounding a ring of gold. A planting of Golden Slippers is always beautiful and bright, as the petals drop cleanly all at one time, while new clusters of orange-red buds flame open to replace the spent blossoms. Many perfect buds are always ready to cut for bright arrangements. Ideal for landscaping, Golden Slippers is neat and compact, sturdy and disease-resistant. The bloom is profuse and continuous, gleaming fluorescent orange and gold against bright green foliage and new growth tipped with bronze. An All-America and Gold Certificate winner; also a top contender for high European awards. Recommended for a choice display where a low plant covered with brilliant blossoms will enhance the landscaping plan.
$2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

FLORIBUNDA ROSES – White

IVORY TRIUMPH (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, single, 12 petals. Ht. 3'
P.D. PPAF. In true floribunda profusion, large clusters of small, perky, pointed yellow buds appear and burst into masses of bloom throughout the season. The bright, gleaming ivory flowers are cupped and pleasing in form, with a slight fragrance. The bush is upright and compact with glossy foliage, well suited to edgings and borders where abundant bloom against a background of dark green is desired.
$2.00 each, 3 for $5.25

SELECTING and PREPARING the ROSE BED

LOCATION: Select a spot with at least half a day of sun, preferably morning sun. Avoid trees and large shrubs, as their roots rob roses of moisture and nutrients.

DRAINAGE: Roses can't stand wet feet. If soil isn't well drained, dig the bed or planting holes 24" deep, spade bottom well and add 6" of coarse gravel.

SPACING: Roses can be spaced according to the size of your planting and the effect desired. Hybrid teas and floribundas may be planted from 16" to 24" apart. Grandifloras should be at least 30" apart, and climbers from 36" (as on fence) to 15 ft. (on posts).

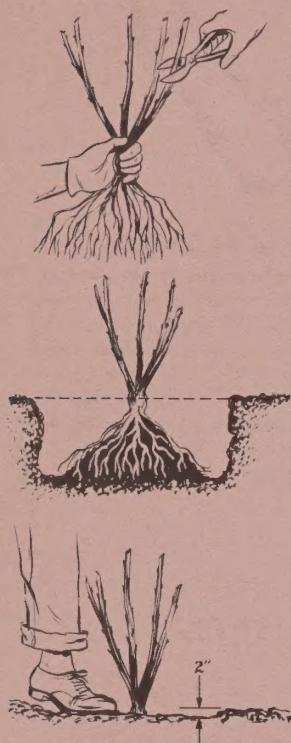

PREPARING THE ROSE BED: Dig holes or bed to 18" deep; holes should be 16"-18" wide. Mix well-rotted cow or sheep manure in equal parts with peat moss and place about 6" of this mixture in the bottom of each hole. If your soil is mostly gravel, hard clay, or is worn out, remove it to a depth of 18" and replace with good top soil, then add peat and fertilizer as outlined above.

Note: Do not use fresh cow manure or chemical fertilizer in the holes or around the bushes during planting because it can burn or even kill your bushes.

FOR ROSE PLANTING and CULTURAL INFORMATION SEE NEXT PAGE

PLANTING BARE ROOT ROSES

Bare root rose bushes should be planted as soon as received. If planting is delayed, store the roses in a cool place, safe from heat and frost. Proceed to plant as follows:

1. Unwrap the rose just before planting. With sharp pruning shears, snip off any crushed or broken roots. Hold plant in one hand and rotate to plan shaping. Prune off twiggy branches and canes crossing center of plant. Trim so center is open to the sun. Leave two to five good canes, pruned to 6"-8" above the bud union (graft). Cut the canes at a 45° angle just above an outside bud eye.

2. Make a firm, cone-shaped mound at the bottom of the prepared hole. The mound should be high enough under the rose plant so that the bud union will be even or slightly below the ground level. Roots should point out and down; be sure they are not twisted or crowded.

3. Hold bush firmly upright with one hand and add a dry half-and-half mixture of soil and peat moss to the hole around the bush, tamping firmly with your feet. Alternately fill and tamp until the hole is filled within 2" of the top.

4. Now water thoroughly. To the 2" depression around your plant slowly add about 2-3 gals. (bucketful) of water and allow it to soak in.

THE SECRET OF BETTER ROSES

A little extra effort now will give you healthier, faster-growing bushes that will be the envy of the neighborhood. Here's our secret for greater success:

5. After watering, hill up moist soil, peat, or a mixture of the two around the rose bush, until canes are completely covered.

6. In about 10 days when the bud eyes begin to swell and push out (you can tell by peeking under the earth cover), carefully remove the soil from around the canes by hand. Spread it out at the base of the bush. If necessary, make a depression around the bud union so it is not covered during the growing season.

Fall Planting: Prune canes to 10" high. Leave the soil hilled up over them until spring, then uncover and prune canes to 6"-8" above the bud union.

ROSE CULTURE

FERTILIZE: Roses need regular feeding. Newly Planted Roses—Begin feeding in the spring when plants show 2"-3" of new growth. Established Roses—Apply well-rotted cow or sheep manure in early spring, usually about April 1. Continue at monthly intervals until fall.

WATER thoroughly once a week during dry season, in early morning or late evening. Use soil soaker, water bubbler, wand or hose, and water the earth, not the plants. Do not wet rose foliage—it encourages mildew and spreads disease. Do not water every day.

CULTIVATE around the bushes by working the earth every 10 days or so. We recommend a 5-pronged hoe to pulverize the soil without cutting feeder roots. Hoe top layer of soil to 2" deep.

MULCH will keep down weeds, hold moisture, cool the soil and prevent splashback from water and rain. Spread peat, bark dust, corn cobs or other light material 2"-3" deep around rose bushes. No further cultivating is needed after mulching.

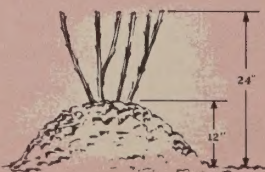

SPRAY or DUST at least once a week during the spring and summer for good foliage and healthy roses. Modern chemicals kill the bugs, keep down disease and help your bushes produce better blossoms. Be sure to cover underside of leaves where the disease starts. Choose a combination insecticide-fungicide for greatest protection and easy application.

CUTTING BLOOMS. Your roses will reward your care with blooms the first year. Cut only a few of the first buds and blooms. As the bushes grow bigger and stronger, a few taken here and there will do no harm. Cut with moderate stems at first, at a 45° angle just above a set of leaves. In the fall, take as many blooms as you wish. The second year there will be more spring blooms and you may cut more flowers. Always leave two sets of leaves on the stub. Keep bushes neat by snipping off spent flowers 1/2" above the first set of 5 leaves. This will encourage new growth and more blooms.

WINTER PROTECTION: After the first frosts, cut canes back to about 24" high to prevent wind whipping. Hill earth 8"-12" around base of bushes. When freezing is over in the spring, uncover, remove dead wood and old canes, open center of bush to the sun. Leave 3 to 5 canes, pruned 6"-10" high. Clean up the bed, fertilize, and watch your roses grow.

CLIMBERS BLOOM from old wood, so do not prune. Remove dead wood in early spring; undesirable canes may be removed after the first blooming.

ARRANGING ROSES

by Junna Lee Elliott

Garden roses are especially wonderful for arrangements. They may be picked from tight buds to half open blooms to fully opened flowers. Roses are lovely arranged with their own foliage or combined with other foliages and flowers.

In selecting varieties for arrangements it is wise to choose those which will hold up well indoors. Roses with many petals such as Memoriam, Burnaby and the new Ebb Tide will hold their shape and open more slowly than the less double ones. Memoriam is especially good, as it will last five to seven days without dropping petals. Amarillo, Pastel and Morocco are sure to become favorites of arrangers for their exquisite bud form and long-lasting qualities. Other excellent new roses for arranging include Jantzen Girl with bright red ruffled petals, and Trojan with the big pastel blooms—both of these are grandifloras and will provide great quantities of flowers for cutting. Floribundas such as Arpeggio, Bellina and Coral Crown are delightful to use in smaller scale or in massed arrangements.

Roses adapt themselves to most any type container. Nowadays they may be arranged in anything the occasion calls for. Silver, crystal, fine and coarse textured pottery, metals such as pewter, copper and bronze, and glass are all lovely with roses. For example, Golden Slippers looks beautiful when the red-gold bud clusters are arranged in brass, copper or brown glass, or more fancifully with a slipper motif as shown. Coronado, too, likes these containers, and Mexican pottery in muted tones. Pastel blooms need more delicate containers—pink Memoriam is lovely in silver, alabaster or crystal, while roses with touches of pink and yellow are lovely in light yellow pottery or blue-green glass. Red roses may be placed in wrought iron, creamy china, or dark blue pottery—almost any contrasting or complimentary container, as long as it does not overpower your blooms. One important factor in selecting a container is that it should be suitable to the size and texture of the roses and the background setting.

Good mechanics are essential in a good arrangement. Use a metal needlepoint holder and anchor it securely to the container with floral clay. Establish the main line of the design with the tallest plant material. Show rhythm in the design by repetition of lines, forms and colors. Vary the length of stems and insert some blooms in deeper than others to create a third dimensional effect. Facing blooms in different directions also adds the illusion of depth. The larger forms and deeper colors should be placed low and toward the center. This is called the dominant feature or center of interest. Avoid any crossing of lines and crowding of blooms. Flowers should decrease in size as they approach the outer edge. Use foliage to break the line of container.

Flower arranging is one of the simplest forms of creative art. If you enjoy what you are creating then the finished product will most certainly be rewarding, and a lovely accent in your home.
